DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 9-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Dadafshar [US 6,420,953].

Dadafshar discloses an induction device [figures 5-11] comprising:

- a core structure includes upper and lower core elements [510, 520];
- a first flat coil having a plurality of circles [540, 525]; and
- a second flat coil having a plurality of circles [530, 535] interlacing with the plurality of circles of the first flat coil.

wherein the core structure coupled to the first and second coils and provided with at least one opening on a sidewall thereof, via which the first and second coils extend out from the core structure.

Dadafshar inherently teaches that the first flat coil can be used as an inductor [see abstract].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2832

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dadafshar in view of Inoh et al. [US 5,521,573].

Dadafshar discloses the instant claimed invention except for terminal of the secondary winding is grounded.

Inoh et al. discloses a planar transformer comprising :

- a core structure [30, 31, 32, 33] ; and
- primary and secondary flat coils disposed in the core structure, wherein terminal of the secondary coil is grounded.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to ground the secondary coil terminal of Dadafshar, as suggested by Inoh et al., for the purpose of improving high frequency insulating characteristics.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Patel et al. [US 6,831,544] ; Smith [US 6,087,922] ; Yerman et al. [US 5,084,958] and Yerman et al. [US 5,126,715].
